WAKING GIANTS CHINA

Thursday 21 June 2007

DTI Conference Centre, Victoria Street, London

A free seminar looking at the exciting opportunities that exist for UK life sciences companies in China.

UK Trade & Investment invites you to a free seminar looking at the exciting opportunities that exist for UK life sciences companies in the city of Tianjin.

This seminar focuses specifically on the city of Tianjin. Tianjin, together with Beijing, Shanghai and Chongqing, it is one of only four "provincial level cities" in China – reporting directly to central government. Boasting both the largest port and the largest freight airport in northern China, Tianjin has excellent transport links and infrastructure, and its location, close to Beijing and central to the Bohai area, ensures it is geographically well positioned.

Now, with the Tianjin Economic and Technology Development Area (TEDA), a state-level development zone, Tianjin's goal is to become a new international centre for modern industry. TEDA is committed to working with foreign companies.

Over 33,000 companies have settled in TEDA since it was inaugurated in 1984, investing a total of USD15billion. And those companies have reaped the rewards of choosing TEDA – at 15% over the last five years, TEDA's return on investment is the highest in China.
